Nurturing potential

Dear Parent/ Guardian,

We are delighted to announce that we have formed a partnership with The School Fees Company. We would welcome the opportunity to explain who they are and how they are supporting families with the management of educational fees.

Who are The School Fees Company?

The School Fees Company is a part of the Brightstar Group, a specialist property finance business, which has been in business for 15 years and has received over 5000, 5-star reviews on Trustpilot for outstanding customer service.

What do they offer?

Until now, there have been limited options for parents when it comes to educational fees planning. However, The School Fees Company is offering an entirely new approach, using property ownership as a vehicle for providing different options for those who pay any type of educational fees. They are helping families who are looking to explore independent education opportunities, national and international schooling opportunities and sports scholarship programmes. They also support families with fees planning for nursery and university education.

Supporting your choices

They know that families often require assistance with managing educational fees or shortfalls in funding, and we are also aware that many families often walk away from fantastic opportunities if they cannot make the finances work. The School Fees Company are committed to helping young people make their educational opportunities achievable. Together let us support your educational journey.

Options available to families

There are multiple options available to those who pay educational fees of any type, and The School Fees Company offers all of these via a vast range of products and through a multitude of lenders/banks. The 'whole of market' stance taken by The School Fees Company means that their advisers can look at all the options available and their clients can get a tailor-made solution to suit their personal situation. The School Fees Company is FCA regulated and operates under the Mortgage Credit Directive (MCD), providing clients with confidence and protection throughout their customer journey. Options offered by The School Fees Company are as follows:

Traditional Remortgage

Using your home to pay school fees.

A traditional remortgage means switching your current mortgage to a new one, often with a bigger loan. This allows you to release some of the money (equity) you've already built up in your home.

How can this help you? You can use the extra money you release to cover school fees, whether for one child or multiple children, without having to dip into savings or investments. It's like unlocking some of your home's value to fund education.

Second Charge Mortgage

Access extra funds while keeping your current mortgage.

A second charge mortgage is a second loan secured against your home, separate from your main mortgage. It can be used to put multiple loans into one or cover large expenses.

How can this help you? This gives you another way to fund school fees without disturbing your existing mortgage. It's particularly useful if you need a lump sum to cover upfront costs, like termly fees, school fees, or boarding school payments.

Equity Release

Unlock value in your home for school fees.

Equity release is a way to access some of the money tied up in your home without selling it. Typically aimed at older homeowners, it allows you to live in your home while using its value for other needs.

How can this help you? You can use the funds from equity release to help pay for school fees for grandchildren or younger family members. It's a way to support education costs without having to sell your home.

Would you welcome the opportunity to discuss the variety of ways that you can manage and organise your educational fees?

We are ready to help.
